I am really grateful for the opportunity represented by the experience of job shadowing “Grandir avec l’Europe” at the Collège de Vallis Aéria in Valréas, France (from June 2nd to June 9th). During my stay in France I had the possibility to come into contact with the learning processes which characterise the french school system and I found them really interesting, stimulating and thought-provoking. It also struck me that the students were interactive and really involved in the activities. This experience has definitely presented food for thought and I am sure that I will reply in my classes some of the methodologies that were used in the french classes. This experience has also made me reflect upon the differences between the italian school system and the french school system regarding the inclusion of disabled students: I think that we can learn much from them, but at the same time that they can also learn much from us.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I really appreciated also the beauty of the landscapes, the cultural heritage and the food of the region of Provence - Alpes - Côte d’Azur.
